OUR STORY

“In August 2012, Nathan started a “night” company. So for 2 and a half years, he did his day job and took care of the company and clients during the night. I then started to look after the client servicing and marketing aspects of the company until it became our exclusive day job. Finally, things started to look good and the transition made us both very different human beings. Our company, “Mighty Curvets” was born. We have divided roles and now work systematically to service as many clients as we can.”

People Per Hour, UK's top freelancing portal covered our struggle to success journey which showed how we started with a laptop on a dining table to a full-fledged digital agency with a dedicated workspace. Link to the story here - <https://bit.ly/2zCF2mj>
